In GOING ALL IN, a good ol' Georgia boy teaches a Myrtle Beach princess how to get down and dirty...

It's been two years since Callie Holden helped put her father in prison, and since then, she's learned a lot about life and herself. To Callie's surprise, she actually likes working and has discovered money is a tool to be used for good... or evil. She also realizes even though she's traveled the globe, she's never truly lived. She longs for adventure and to experience a wildly passionate romance. The last place she expects to realize her dreams is in the arms of the ever-surly man she's dubbed "The Beast." But when Callie and Wade Neumann are forced to work together, unexpected chemistry changes everything. In Wade's arms, Callie finds the excitement and passion she's been looking for, as well as a few other surprises.

Wade Neumann has spent the last year burying the pain and humiliation of being left at the altar by a woman who used him as a novelty toy before settling down with someone more like herself—someone rich. He's lost himself in a stream of nameless females since then, but instead of the trysts helping him heal, he's only grown colder and more jaded. He hasn't moved on with his life. He's merely stuck going through the motions... until he meets Callie Holden, a woman who looks like his ex but is actually the opposite—sweet, compassionate, loyal, and most importantly, not wealthy. Or so he thinks. Because just as he starts to believe things with Callie are real and true, she gives him thirty million reasons to doubt all over again.
